

Kirkkonummi Kindergarten has organised a trip to Helsinki Natural History Museum for a group of 5-6 years old children in November 2012.

They had a guided tour and got a lot of information as well as a chance to do some activities about Finnish animals. The children liked the whole experience and were very enthusiastic about drawing, writing and doing a class book about this trip. Most of the animals were only to be looked at but some could be touched...

The children learnt how to recognise the animal by its footprints and had fun printing
